DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claim 2 is objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c), as being of improper dependent form for failing to further limit the subject matter of a previous claim. Applicant is required to cancel the claim(s), or amend the claim(s) to place the claim(s) in proper dependent form, or rewrite the claim(s) in independent form. Claim 2 recites the net is made of any other oilphylic material, which is a broader limitation than that of claim 1 and does not further limit the subject matter of claim 1.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 recites the limitation "the longitudinal portions" in lines 8-9 and "the corners of the frame" in line 11. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim. The claims do not positively recite a shape or form of the frame. For examination purposes the longitudinal portions and corners of the frame are assumed to be the edges of the frame.

Claim 3 recites the limitation "the transverse portions". There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim. The claims do not positively recite a shape or form of the frame. For examination purposes the longitudinal portions and corners of the frame are assumed to be the edges of the frame.

Claim 2 is rejected as depending from claim 1.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rink et al. US 5 863 440 in view of Brinkley US 5 403 478.

Regarding claim 1, Rink teaches a medium and collecting net comprising: a net of polypropylene strands (200, 210) forming a cross-linked area, a frame (240, 250) of polypropylene strip attached in the whole periphery of the net with floating elements (110) and handle devices (220, 225) attached to the frame (fig. 2, 5, col. 6, lines 51-55, col. 7, lines 49-51). Rink teaches floating elements along the outer edges of the frame does not teach floating element being between the upper face and the bottom face of the frame. Brinkley teaches a medium and collecting net having a net and floating elements (40) along the edge of the net between an upper and bottom face (fig. 7, 8, col. 9, lines 40-54). Addition of a floatation material is known in the art to attach to net material as shown in both prior art references. Brinkley teaches a known technique of sandwiching the floating material between two surfaces on the inside of the net bag. Because the particular technique is known in the art is recognized as part of the ordinary capabilities of one skilled in the art and the application of the technique as taught by Brinkley would yield predictable results in that the net bag would float. The claim is considered to be obvious over the prior art (KSR International Co. v. Teleflex Inc., 82 USPQ2d 1385 (2007)).

Regarding claim 2, Rink further teaches the net is made of other suitable materials such as nylon (col. 6, lines 51-60); and the floating elements are distributed around all the edges of the net (fig. 2, col. 6, lines 5-11).
